HZD Sgt. Lee Russell Carroll County Airport

Aviation Moves Tennessee

Tennessee's aviation system has 76 public-use airports that support a wide range of activities, from commercial airline travel to private aircraft operations. Aviation contributes approximately 9% of Tennessee's gross domestic product (GDP) and generates an estimated $53.8 billion in total economic impact across the state. To better understand how these airports support Tennessee's economy, the Tennessee Department of Transportation (TDOT) Aeronautics Division conducted an updated Aviation Economic Impact Study.

About Sgt. Lee Russell Carroll County Airport

Just northwest of the City of Huntingdon in West Tennessee, sits Sgt. Lee Russell Carroll County Airport (HZD), also known as Carroll County Airport, which serves a predominantly rural region characterized by farmland, forests, and open agricultural landscapes. The airport is situated near community recreation areas and regional outdoor destinations, including the Carroll County Recreational Lake and Natchez Trace State Park.

Sgt. Lee Russell Carroll County Airport is a county-owned general aviation facility featuring a 5,507-foot runway capable of accommodating a broad range of general aviation aircraft. This capability supports recreational flying, business aviation, and public-service operations while enhancing regional connectivity.

Several critical public-safety services operate directly from the airport. Medical transport services utilize the airport to support air-ambulance operations serving area hospitals and surrounding communities. In addition, the Tennessee Highway Patrol conducts rescue and law-enforcement aviation activities on-airport. Businesses such as Tosh Farms and Haven Steel also utilize the airport to support transportation needs.
