Aviation Moves Tennessee

Tennessee's aviation system has 76 public-use airports that support a wide range of activities, from commercial airline travel to private aircraft operations. Aviation contributes approximately 9% of Tennessee's gross domestic product (GDP) and generates an estimated $53.8 billion in total economic impact across the state. To better understand how these airports support Tennessee's economy, the Tennessee Department of Transportation (TDOT) Aeronautics Division conducted an updated Aviation Economic Impact Study.

About Tullahoma Regional Airport/WM Northern Field

Serving the City of Tullahoma and surrounding areas of Coffee County in south-central Tennessee, Tullahoma Regional Airport/William Northern Field (THA) provides general aviation access within a region shaped by manufacturing, healthcare services, and regional business activity. The airport functions as a key aviation gateway supporting business travel, emergency medical services, and general aviation operations in an area where aviation complements regional highway access and economic activity.

Tullahoma Regional Airport/William Northern Field features a 5,501-foot runway, allowing it to accommodate a wide range of general aviation aircraft, including business aircraft and specialized aviation operations. This runway capability provides flexibility for both based and visiting users while enhancing regional accessibility.

Several aviation-related businesses operate directly on-airport. XP Services maintains a presence supporting aviation services and aircraft operations. In addition, Vanderbilt LifeFlight operates from the airport, conducting helicopter emergency medical transport missions. Enterprise Rent-A-Car and Nissan also utilize the airport to support business travel and regional operations.
